

PAUL “DAVE” GAUBATZ

Founder, Author & Counter-terrorism/ Counter-intelligence Expert

Paul “Dave” Gaubatz, founder of America’s Civil War Rising, is a world class counter-terrorism and counter-intelligence expert whose boots-on-the-ground experience is second to none. He is also the premier authority on the Muslim Brotherhood. His book, Muslim Mafia: Inside the Secret Underworld That’s Conspiring to Islamize America, is unsurpassed in the world of counter terror. His investigative team exposed the largest Muslim conspiracy in U.S. history, uncovering over 12,000 documents and 300 hours of audio/video materials relating to criminal terrorist activity against America. Although he might be best known to the public for this work, he is also known by many as the “Terrorist Hunter.”

Aside from co-authoring the magna carté of books on the Muslim underworld, Dave Gaubatz is a U.S. State Department-trained Arabic linguist and a retired Federal Agent with the U.S. Air Force Office of Special Investigations (AFOSI). Among his many achievements, he has investigated felony crimes against the U.S. Air Force and government and was the very first Special Civilian Agent deployed to Nasiriyah, Iraq, in 2003 for Operation Iraqi Freedom. He has received extensive training and experience in Islamic ideology and tactics—including from former members of Islamic terrorist groups, as well as from Muslim military and law enforcement who served under the late former Iraqi president Saddam Hussein.

With over three decades of combined experience in this arena, Dave held Top Secret/SCI clearance on counter-intelligence and counter-terrorism matters for over 15 years and has received the highest levels of intelligence, including for weapons of mass destruction (WMD) and espionage. He has also been briefed into many “Black Project” programs for U.S. national security purposes and has been assigned to numerous counter-intelligence and counter-terrorism operations. His vast accomplishments and expertise have earned him numerous U.S. awards for identifying WMD sites and exposing Islamic terrorists and their plots against the U.S. and our troops.

After leaving his position in the United States Air Force (USAF), Dave continued his work as a Civilian Agent and trained over 3000 U.S. law enforcement officers in Arabic and counter-terrorism involving Islamic terrorist groups and their supporters. He has personally been to and examined over 350 mosques and Islamic centers in the U.S. alone and over 100 abroad; has reviewed thousands of Islamic documents on tactics to attack U.S. interests and overthrow America; and has studied over 5500 publications, books, and brochures and over 2000 hours of lectures by Islamic scholars and leaders. Currently, Dave conducts onsite fieldwork at mosques, Islamic centers, and various Islamic venues throughout America, gathering firsthand intelligence and primary source evidence/ materials to evaluate their risk/threat levels through a rating system and specific set of criteria, the “Islamic Terror Alphabet Criteria’ (ITAC), which he developed himself. He then makes national security recommendations — primarily to alert the American public, but he also notifies the proper authorities of potential threats with sworn affidavits. Tragically, some of his previous warnings have been validated by actual violent attacks. Visit Dave’s “Counter-terrorism Lab” for more on his methodology and firsthand reports.

DAVE GAUBATZ’S PROFESSIONAL BACKGROUND – CHRONICLED

1977 to 1999. Dave served in the U.S. Air Force, a career that led him on missions spanning the Middle East—from Saudi Arabia and Jordan to Kuwait and Iraq. During his last 12 years, he served as a Special Agent with the U.S. Air Force Office of Special Investigations (AFOSI), where he was privy to Top Secret/SCI (Sensitive Compartmented Information) and briefed into many so-called “black projects.”

2000. After he spent a year with Target Corporation as a National Investigator, Dave returned to AFOSI as a U.S. Federal Agent.

September 11, 2001. After the attack on our country, Dave was tasked as a (1811) civilian Federal Agent to Albuquerque, New Mexico, for “Technology Protection.” This involved protecting our highest classification of technologies used to defend America. However, after September 11, he was assigned to the U.S. State Department, Foreign Service Institute in Arlington, VA, and received training in an intensive Arabic-language course. This included a three-week deployment to Jordan, where he was immersed in the Arabic language, culture, and in Islam.

January 2003. Prior to Operation Iraqi Freedom, Dave was positioned as a civilian Federal Agent to ArAr Air Base, Saudi Arabia (near the Iraqi border). There he was tasked with collecting intelligence related to potential attacks against the U.S. Armed Forces’ personnel and conducting counter-espionage against the Saudi Arabian and Iraqi military and governments, as well as against others in the area. In this capacity, he led several counter-terrorism/counter-intelligence expeditions.

March to July 2003. Dave was stationed inside Nasiriyah, Iraq, where he traveled to various cities, including Baghdad and Barah, and applied his Arabic training to gather vital intelligence on espionage and weapons of mass destruction (WMD). Contrary to the often erroneously touted claim that no WMD were found in Iraq, Dave located tunnels leading to four sealed underground bunkers that reportedly contained stockpiles of chemical and biological weapons, as well as long-range missiles. While Dave filed the proper reports with photographs, precise site grid coordinates, and source testimony, the U.S. weapons inspectors (later dubbed the Iraq Survey Group) failed to examine and excavate them, claiming a lack of manpower, equipment, and unsafe conditions. Despite furious efforts by him and his team to elicit the ISG's response, along with the numerous letters he sent to senior officials upon his return, they still failed to act to inspect them, and the fallacious "no WMD in Iraq" charge has stuck but has never been verified.

During his stint in Iraq, Dave also assisted in the mission to rescue the family of Mohammed Odeh Al-Rehaief, the Iraqi lawyer who aided in rescuing Private First Class (PFC) Jessica Lynch. He interviewed numerous Iraqis and Iranians about terrorist acts against the U.S., the Islamic ideology involved in violent Jihadist activity, and the methodology and tactics used by Islamic terrorist leaders and their supporters. He was also trained by former members of Islamic terrorist groups and Muslims who were investigating these groups themselves. This included military and police officers who served under the late former Iraqi President Saddam Hussein. In addition to this, he reviewed thousands of Islamic documents on tactics to attack U.S. interests and overthrow America.

July 2003. After returning from Iraq and leaving his position in the United States Air Force (USAF), Dave continued his work as a Civilian Agent. He wrote an Arabic street survival guide, Arabic for Law Enforcement and Military, and began to lecture at schools, businesses, and law enforcement agencies. He still to this day is frequently called upon for interviews and speaking engagements.

2003 to 2006. Dave held the position of Chief Investigator of the Dallas County Medical Examiner's Office. He was also the owner of Wahhabi CT Publications, which provided counter-terrorism training materials for law enforcement and other organizations, and has trained over 3000 U.S. law enforcement officers in Arabic and counter-terrorism involving Islamic terrorist groups and their supporters.

During this same period—and at the direction of former Under Secretary of Defense for President Ronald Reagan—Dave placed five (5) undercover researchers inside of and led undercover operations on the Council on American Islamic Relations (CAIR). CAIR is a Muslim Brotherhood organization that operates inside America. In 2005, he hired a senior CAIR leader to provide intelligence and training on its organizational operations. Strikingly, the operation resulted in uncovering over 12,000 documents and 300 hours of audio/video materials relating to criminal terrorist activity against America. *Muslim Mafia*, co-authored by *Paul Sperry* and released in 2009, is an outgrowth of this investigation. It stands to reason then that—with over 350 onsite surveys of U.S. mosques to his credit and 100 abroad—Dave's current counter-terrorism work is groundbreaking too.
